

ACCIDENTAL DEATH THE VERDICT

JURY FINDS THAT DEATH WAS DUE LARGELY TO NEGLIGENCE OF DECEASED IN USING DEFECTIVE SLING.

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning Coroner William C. A. Pohl summoned a jury to inquire into the death of First Mate Walter Jorgensen, of the schooner Annie M. Campbell, loading lumber at the Tongue Point mill docks, which occurred on Tuesday morning last at St. Mary's hospital.

After empanelling the jury, the following witnesses were called and gave testimony directly bearing on the sad case, to-wit: Dr. J. A. Fulton, Captain Nels Nelson, of the vessel; John Hansen, an able seaman, and Charles Winters, the donkey engine tender; such testimony revealing the fact that the accident whereby the fine young seaman met his death was due largely to Jorgensen's own negligence in persisting in the use of a defective sling against which he had been warned by those working with him.

Following was the text of the verdict rendered in the case after the submission of all testimony available:

"Astoria, Or., Nov. 6, 1907.

"We, the undersigned jurors, sworn to inquire into the cause of the death of Walter Jorgensen, on oath, do say:

"That he came to his death on November 5, 1907, at Astoria, Clatsop county, Oregon, from injuries received on November 4, 1907, on board the schooner Annie M. Campbell, at Hume's mill dock, Astoria, Oregon; and that the cause was accidental and caused by his own negligence. Signed,

"MAX YOUNG, Foreman;

"E. A. COE,

"A. L. STEELE,

"N. J. JUDAH,

"E. C. ROSENBERG,

"WILLIAM McCROSKEY."

The funeral of Mate Jorgensen will take place on Friday next from the Gilbaugh undertaking parlors.

THE GREAT HORSE SHOW

Today there will open at Portland one of the finest and swiftest exhibitions ever seen in the Oregon metropolis, the long-expected and eagerly-anticipated Horse Show, at which all the thorough-breds of two States and perhaps three, will be displayed in and out of harness, under saddle, and in all the graceful and useful ways in which American horse-flesh is handled. Among the Astoria contingent present with exhibits will be Miss Floretta Elmore who will drive a fine pair of carriage animals, and Mr. R. H. Jenkins, of the A. & C., whose riding horse is entered for three events today. The display will last for three days and will be overwhelmingly attended by the wealth and fashion of the states at interest.

Fingers Severed—

Miss May Cook, a young woman employed at the McGowan cannery on the north side of the Columbia River, met with a painful accident Tuesday morning while in the discharge of her duties. She was engaged in topping cans and in some unaccountable manner her left hand became caught in the topping machine and three fingers were completely severed. The young woman was conveyed to her home and the hand dressed, and at last report she was resting comfortably.

Capized But Saved—

A launch operated by O. B. Britt and which runs between Fort Canby and Ilwaco was capized Tuesday morning and the occupants treated to a severe wetting. Britt was taking his son and two Larsen children to school and while on the journey ran into a fish trap. The boat was capized but the children clung to the launch and Britt set up a luster cry for help, finally succeeding in attracting the attention of the life-saving crew, who came to their assistance and placed the boat on its keel. No serious after effects have resulted from the severe wetting to the little ones.

WATERFRONT ITEMS

The Alliance left out yesterday morning for Coos Bay ports with a full cargo and many passengers.

The steamer Roanoke arrived from San Pedro and way ports yesterday morning and left for Portland in the afternoon.

The German steamer Tiberius came in from San Francisco yesterday in ballast. She will load grain for the United Kingdom for orders.

The British steamer British Monarch, in ballast from Guaymas, Mexico, arrived in yesterday after a 12 days' run. The Monarch's captain reported dirty weather off the bar. She will load grain for the United Kingdom for a return cargo.

The steam schooner Yellowstone arrived in ballast from San Francisco yesterday morning and will take a cargo of lumber to San Francisco. This is the maiden trip of the Yellowstone and she belongs to the McCormick line of steam schooners.

Eight vessels are lying down stream waiting for the weather to lift that they may proceed on the way. The vessels are the Norwegian steamer Terje Viken, with a cargo of lumber for Shanghai; the British steamer Inveran, with lumber for Adelaide; the French bark Turgot, Lacennac, Le Pillier and Brizeau, with grain for the United Kingdom.

The American schooner Americano from Port Los Angeles in ballast arrived in yesterday and will load about 1,000,000 feet of lumber for South American ports, at the Knappton mill. The Americano is finding some difficulty in discharging her ballast, there being no dock on which to dump it. Apropos of this subject it would be quite an idea for some enterprising citizen to build a ballast dock, and the vessels coming into this port could then discharge their ballast without unnecessary delay. Good clean gravel ballast can be put to many uses and the business man who built the dock could easily sell all that would come here. This is a matter that should be given immediate attention as it is very annoying to ship's masters and consignees to put up with the delay of finding a place to dump their ballast.

The French bark Marechal de Turenne is up against a hard luck story. Arriving in this port it was found she had no manifest and her skipper was fined $300, for that breach of the maritime laws. Added to this while dropping anchor off port, the anchor and several fathoms of chain carried away, and as a final windup yesterday, while the ship's crew were trying to again secure the anchor, the first mate of the vessel was struck on the arm and sustained a severe fracture of the wrist bone. It is to be hoped that the captain will find a horseshoe or secure a good rabbit's foot and break the run of hard luck which has struck his gallant bark.

Pellme-Randa—

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of John Jacobson in Uppertown yesterday afternoon, when Miss Fanny Randa, of Westport, was united in marriage to Mr. Alex Pellman, of Rainier. Only a few of the immediate friends were present, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Gustave E. Rydquist. The young couple left for Portland on last evening's train and after their honeymoon trip will make their home at Rainier.

He Fought at Gettysburg.

David Parker, of Fayette, N. Y., who lost a foot at Gettysburg, writes: Electric Bitters have done me more good than any medicine I ever took. For several years I had stomach trouble, and paid out much money for medicine to little purpose, until I began taking Electric Bitters. I would not take $500 for what they have done for me. Grand tonic for the aged and for female weaknesses. Great alternative and body builder; best of all for lame back and weak kidneys. Guaranteed by Charles Rogers & Son, druggists. 50 cents.

H. Wellington P. Smith, representing the well-known crockery house of Prael Hegele Co., of Portland, is in town. His advance cards represent "H. Wellington" standing on a crockery barrel with arm upraised—presumably "hollering" for orders.

Don't Allow Claim—

The claim of R. D. Hume for $2515 was not allowed by the Board of Fish Commissioners at their meeting in Salem yesterday.

This claim was denied on three grounds: That, in the opinion of the board the statute is defective and inoperative; that the evidence is insufficient to support the claim, and that the claim is too "stale." The statute referred to was intended for the purpose of encouraging packers and others interested in the artificial propagation of salmon to maintain their own hatcheries and carry on a system of hatchery work on streams they were directly interested in. In the event this work was carried out systematically and to the satisfaction of the board, the board was privileged to pay such person or corporation not to exceed 60 per cent of the license fees each year collected upon such stream or its tributaries. This is the first claim Mr. Hume has ever presented, and the board looked upon it as a sort of retaliatory move because of his having been sued for fishing and packing licenses by the board.

Mr. Robert O. Burke, Elmore, N. Y., writes: "Before I started to use Foley's Kidney Cure I had to get up from 12 to 20 times a night, and I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. I had given up hope of living, when a friend recommended Foley's Kidney Cure. One 50 cent bottle worked wonders and before I had taken the third bottle the dropsy had gone, as well as all other symptoms of Bright's Disease." T. F. Laurin, Owl Drug Store.
